

AK-AIMH announces Members-Only Registration for NEW online webinar

This is an exclusive members-only priority registration opportunity through October 11, 2020. We'll send out a public announcement on October 12.

Reflective Supervision/ Consultation in the Field of IECMH: Introduction & Foundations for Practice

Reflective supervision/consultation (RSC) is an evidence-based practice to support direct service providers and their managers to deliver trauma-engaged, diversity-informed, and ethical services to families of young children. RSC helps us reflect on our experiences with families to cultivate and sustain our own resilient and ethical practice, preventing burn-out. Using a diversity-informed approach to RSC promotes equitable access to services for all families.

Deb Harris, IMH-E Clinical Mentor

Deb has provided RSC to many Alaskan practitioners over the past 12 years. Hailing from New Mexico, she has traveled to Alaska multiple times to provide training in Circle of Security and Child-Parent Psychotherapy. Deb was an invited keynote speaker on infant/ toddler court team models at the 2015 Alaska statewide IECMH Institute. In 2019, Deb was awarded the William M. Schaffer, PhD, Award to Honor Excellence in Reflective Supervision Leadership & Inspiration.
